

Dietary supplement safety and quality

Many big-box and large online retailers have little or no quality standards in place.

Fullscript guarantees that everything in its catalog meets or exceeds high industry standards.

Fullscript's four pillars of quality

Rigorous onboarding

- All brands have third-party Good Manufacturing Practices (GMPs).
- Third-party certification programs evaluate quality in Fullscript's catalog.
- Fullscript focuses on evidence-based ingredients that follow strict quality and purity processes.

Monitored storage

- Fullscript product storage standards such as temperature and humidity are monitored 24/7.
- Unlike many retailers, Fullscript has a 90-day expiration policy on most supplements.
- Fullscript distribution centers voluntarily undergo the same rigorous quality audits as its suppliers.

Careful packaging

- Fullscript fulfills one order at a time for quality wrapping and breakage prevention.
- Fullscript adds protection like bubble wrap for glass or cold packs for heat-sensitive items.

Continuous improvement

- Patients are encouraged to reach out to Fullscript's Customer Success Team with questions about the quality of their purchases.
- Quality feedback is relayed to Fullscript's partners to improve operating procedures and systems.

Analysis of 30 dietary supplement products from a large online retailer

Seventeen of 30 products had inaccurate labels, 13 were misbranded, and 9 had additional components detected but not claimed on the label.
